Pumps Boost Hope To Rescue Miners

HOMINY FALLS, W. Va. (AP) — Ten giant pumps, drawing out 3,200 gallons of water each minute, quickened prospects today of rescuing 15 miners known to be alive in a flooded coal mine. Ten others, deeper in the mountain, were feared dead.

"The boys working the pumps down in the shaft are real optimistic," said H.E. Sundstrom, in overnight charge of the rescue. "They think that if the water keeps coming out like it has been, 13 of the men should be able to walk out this morning."

The wives of the trapped miners, their children and friends, remained silently at the mouth of the mine through the chilly night—as many have been since the mine flooded Monday noon. The area became a tent city, a floodlit nightmare, as the rescuers pushed on.

The horizontal passageway, only three feet high in places and descending gently for two miles, has been filled with water since the wall to an adjoining abandoned mine burst.

Closest to the entrance—about one mile in—are 13 men. They are in a chamber, higher than the roller-coaster like passageway. They have been sent food, water and blankets over a conveyor belt and air is being pumped to them.

Two others, mine foreman Frank Davis and miner Edward Rudd, are a half mile farther in. A vent drilled 140 feet through the roof of the mountain gave them similar relief.

The 15 maintained radio-telephone contact with the outside until late Tuesday night when the battery failed. The break in communications wasn't considered serious.

Two miles into the shaft, at its lowest point and nearest the wall break, are the 10 other miners. They have not been heard from.

As the water level dropped, rescuers were able to get closer to the men. But progress was slow—150 feet in five hours.

Three scuba divers, flown in from Pennsylvania and New Jersey, were standing by in case the pumping operation failed. Their equipment was considered too bulky for the low passageway, however.

Phone Workers Plan New Vote

LANSING (AP) — Michigan members of the Communications Workers of America will have another go this week at ratifying new contracts with Michigan Bell Telephone Co. and Western Electric Corp.

Representatives of the CWA met in Lansing Tuesday and agreed to extend the ratification period on the contract offer until Sunday, May 19. The agreement was ratified nationally but rejected in the state last Saturday.

The pact would provide wage increases of $11 to $24 a week spread over a three-year period. All CWA locals in the state will take new ratification votes.

Across the country, 23,000 Western Electric installers will also take a new vote on the contract. The installers, also CWA members, ratified the contract last Sunday but it was charged that there were irregularities in the election.

State CWA director William Shelton said after Tuesday's meeting that he expected picketing to end at all Michigan Bell facilities today.

However, Leonard Florkey, strike director of Local 4000 in Detroit, with 5,300 members, the state's largest CWA unit, said a new ratification meeting is scheduled for Thursday in Detroit.

Florkey indicated that picketlines would remain up pending results of that meeting.

The state CWA and Michigan Bell agreed that if the contract is ratified by Sunday, it will bear an effective date of May 1 and all pay increases will be in Escanaba, Western Electric pickets were withdrawn Tuesday about 2:30 p.m., about two hours, 20 minutes after picketing began. All Michigan Bell and Western Electric employees were back to work throughout the Upper Peninsula today and will remain on jobs pending the outcome of the ratification vote.

Death Claims Heart Patient, James B. Cobb

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — One of the three men who underwent heart transplants within five days of each other died today.

A St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital announcement said James B. Cobb, Alexandria, La., died eight hours after unexpected complications developed.

"The transplanted heart was not rejected and functioned well until the unforeseen complications occurred," the announcement said.

The cause of death was not known but the hospital said Cobb, who received the heart of a 15-year-old boy Sunday, was believed to have died because of liver and kidney failure.

Meanwhile, the other two patients remained in satisfactory condition.

They were J. M. Stuckwisch, 62, Alpine, Tex., and Everett Claire Thomas, 47, Phoenix, Ariz.

The condition of Cobb, 48, had been excellent Tuesday but doctors remained at his bedside constantly once the complications developed.

"It is believed Cobb's response to immuno suppressive drugs (that combat rejection) was at fault since the white blood cell count fell to precariously low levels just prior to death, lowering his body resistance and exposing him to liver and kidney failure," the hospital said.

Find Body Of Brimley Man In Chippewa Woods

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — The body of Eugene White, 37, of Brimley, was found Tuesday about a quarter mile into a Chippewa County woods.

White disappeared Dec. 2 after leaving on a hunting trip. The Chippewa County coroner said the death apparently was a suicide.

Poor March At Alabama Capital

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — The Southern prong of the Poor People's Campaign, 300 strong and growing, stopped here on the second night of their trek to Washington and planned a downtown march today in memory of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The march was to begin shortly after the body of Alabama Gov. Lurleen Wallace moved to the State Capitol to lie in state.

Officials were apprehensive that the two processions might coincide. City Atty. Ira Dement said the marchers had not asked for a parade permit, but a last minute application would be considered.

It was to be the last demonstration in Montgomery before the Rev. Ralph Abernathy gathered his group into their buses and headed for Birmingham, the third Alabama stop on the tour aimed at getting poverty legislation from Congress.

The parade route headed about a mile and a half from a church, where the first of a series of workshops in nonviolence for the marchers was scheduled, to the Dexter Avenue Baptist Church, where King was pastor when he began his civil rights campaigns in the 1950s.

The Dexter Avenue church is a block from the State Capitol. Numerous state troopers had circled the Capitol Tuesday night when there was talk of an after-dark march into the area.

Abernathy, who talked Tuesday to some 1,500 marchers and supporters from Montgomery, warned them against resorting to violence.

"If we get off on a tangent and give the state troopers and the Army a chance to shift the focus to violence," he said, "then we take the focus off of poverty."

"We are going to keep the focus on poverty and we're not going to let them get us off on a side issue."

The marchers had come into Montgomery on foot about supper time Tuesday, walking in from their buses which were left west of town.

Newspapers, Unions Bargain

KO Strike Inquiry

DETROIT (AP) — With the attempted intervention by Gov. George Romney and a legislative committee behind them, negotiators for the Detroit News and the Detroit Free Press today continued to bargain with the Pressmen's Union, one of four on strike, in an attempt to end the 175-day shutdown of the papers.

Following the apparent withdrawal of Romney and the legislative committee, a federal judge Tuesday decided to take no further immediate action to bar their involvement.

After conferring for more than three hours with lawyers from the News and the state attorney general's office, U.S. District Court Judge Damon Keith said a temporary restraining order barring the intervention of Romney and the committee "will be permitted to lapse" on Friday.

Keith also said he had "advised all counsel for the parties of my views that the collective bargaining process should not be interfered with in any manner."

The move came after the Senate committee voted Monday to withdraw a subpoena ordering the appearance of Peter B. Clark, publisher of the News, at a hearing in Lansing last week.

Saying "the involvement of new third parties would only complicate and delay negotiations," Clark obtained the federal restraining order last Wednesday.

It nullified the Senate subpoena and temporarily barred Romney and the Senate committee, headed by Sen. Robert Huber, R-Troy, from intervening in the negotiations between the News and four striking unions.

SMOKE RISES from the southwestern part of Saigon as residents stream across a bridge leading into the capital to escape heavy fighting between the Viet Cong and South Vietnamese soldiers. Battling On Saigon Fringes In 4th Day

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today that 2,002 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese soldiers have been killed in the past three days of heavy fighting in and around Saigon. But despite his heavy losses, the enemy battled on for the fourth day in streets on the capital's western edge.

The government put a 24-hour curfew on the western half of Saigon to aid its forces.

In comparison with the 2,002 enemy killed, the U.S. Command said allied casualties in the first three days of the new wave of attacks on Saigon totaled 211 killed and 931 wounded—30 Americans killed and 323 wounded, 181 South Vietnamese killed and 608 wounded.

The U.S. Embassy said 41 South Vietnamese civilians had been killed and 1,309 wounded. The government put the number of killed at 141 civilians with 1,230 wounded. The mayor's office estimated 29,000 persons had been driven from their homes by the fighting.

"There isn't much going on today," a senior U.S. officer said. "The key is whether the enemy will be able to reinforce and they don't seem to be able to. As far as the major threat from the west, it doesn't seem to be developing. It looks as if it is petering out, but it's a little early to say officially."

Refugees Dig In

Refugees from the western section said the Viet Cong were digging bunkers in the rubble of burned-out homes, apparently determined to hold out to the end.

U.S. helicopter gunships slammed rockets into the enemy positions on the western edge of the city, while farther to the west fighter-bombers pounded enemy infiltration routes.

"Contacts throughout the Saigon area have been light and scattered today, with minimal contact in Saigon itself," the U.S. Command reported.

While eastern Saigon remained under a 7 p.m. to 7 a.m. curfew, the government said it ordered the round-the-clock curfew in the western section "to prevent Viet Cong infiltration."

Air Base Hit

One enemy 100-pound rocket hit the heart of Saigon, killing a civilian and wounding five, while 14 landed at Tan Son Nhut air base, on the northwest edge of the city.

A U.S. spokesman said three American servicemen were wounded at the base and damage was light. Other sources said five South Vietnamese also were wounded.

Military sources believe the Viet Cong intends to keep up their shelling and street fighting in Saigon in an attempt to influence the U.S.-North Vietnamese preliminary peace talks expected to open Friday in Paris.

In a show of force Sunday, the enemy bombarded more than 100 towns and allied military installations and opened the new assault on Saigon, which was shaken by widespread street fighting in the Viet Cong's lunar new year offensive in February.

Fight At DMZ

There also had been heavy fighting in recent days below the demilitarized zone, but U.S. communiques today reported little significant ground action outside the Saigon area.

South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu visited battle areas around Saigon Tuesday, his office said, and allied artillery fire had to be lifted several times so his helicopter could land.

Elsewhere in the ground war, enemy gunners slammed 160 rounds of rockets and artillery into U.S. positions at Khe Sanh, in the northwest corner of South Vietnam. U.S. casualties were reported light.

U.S. pilots reported destroying or damaging 100 trucks in the southern part of North Vietnam Monday, underlining reports from U.S. officials in Saigon and Washington that the movement of troops and supplies from North Vietnam south was greatly intensified since President Johnson on March 31 restricted U.S. bombing to the area south of the 19th parallel.

Trucks Move

U.S. pilots since then have been flying as many bombing missions against the southern part of North Vietnam as they formerly flew against the whole country. But despite this intensified attack on a smaller target area, U.S. sources say 17,000 enemy supply trucks were seen moving through North Vietnam's southern panhandle and down the Ho Chi Minh trail in April. And the sources estimated that 100,000 men had infiltrated south since the lunar new year offensive in February.

American pilots logged 117 missions against the North Tuesday and said antiaircraft fire was heavy. The U.S. Command said a Navy F4 Phantom was shot down near Vinh, 145 miles north of the demilitarized zone, but a helicopter rescued the two fliers. It was the 834th American warplane officially reported downed in combat over North Vietnam.

Four Michigan Soldiers Killed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department said Tuesday four Michigan men were among 53 U. S. servicemen listed as killed in action in the Vietnam War.

They were: Army Sgt. Peter Brum, husband of Mrs. Siegrid Brum of Lansing; Army Cpl. Thomas J. Bradford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harnie Bradford, Lincoln Park; Army Spec. 4 Harold T. Hensley, husband of Mrs. Janice A. Hensley, Detroit; and Army Pfc. John L. Downing, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Downing, Royal Oak.

Hanoi Negotiator Is Optimistic On Peace

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U.S. delegation is set for Paris peace contacts with Hanoi negotiators but in Washington officials expressed concern that what they termed accelerated North Vietnamese military activity could force American retaliation.

The six-member American diplomatic team, headed by Ambassador-at-Large W. Averell Harriman, is to leave for Paris Thursday. North Vietnam's delegation began arriving there Tuesday.

Ha Van Lao, adviser to chief Hanoi negotiator Xuan Thuy, said he is optimistic about prospects but did not elaborate.

Despite the approach of preliminary talks, U.S. officials said, record levels of troop infiltration from the North into South Vietnam have been noted.

These officials also said they are concerned about a new wave of enemy attacks on Saigon and other South Vietnamese cities.

Accompanying Harriman to Paris will be: Cyrus R. Vance, former deputy secretary of defense; Lt. Gen. Andrew Goodpaster, under assignment as deputy U.S. military commander in Vietnam; Philip C. Mabib, Asian expert in the State Department; William Jordan, aide to presidential adviser Walt W. Rostow; and Daniel I. Davidson, special assistant to Harriman.

Sargent Shriver, just sworn in as American ambassador to Paris, is hurrying to his new post a few days ahead of schedule in order to be on hand for the peace contracts.

Up to last Sunday, according to reports from Saigon, an estimated 100,000 Communist troops have entered South Vietnam since late January—more than 6,500 of them in the first five days of this month. Meanwhile, there have been no U.S. reinforcements, officials said.

McCarthy Vows To Carry Fight To Nebraska

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two victories by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, an impressive showing by Richard M. Nixon and the defeat of veteran Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, highlighted five primaries across the nation.

Kennedy defeated Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy in Indiana's Democratic presidential primary and his national convention delegate slate beat Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's in the District of Columbia.

Republican candidate Nixon was unopposed and got an even bigger Indiana vote than in the 1960 primary. He carried the state in the 1960 general presidential election.

Lausche was defeated by Cincinnati City Councilman John J. Gilligan, a former congressman who had labor support and the Ohio Democratic organization endorsement.

May Share Delegates

In Tuesday's primary voting: —Kennedy got about 42 per cent of the Indiana vote to about 31 per cent for favorite-son candidate Gov. Roger D. Branigan and about 27 per cent for McCarthy.

Apportionment of the 63 National Convention votes will be determined by the Democratic State Central Committee. It could award all the delegate votes to the statewide winner, Kennedy. Or it could apportion them by congressional districts, giving Kennedy most of the delegates and Branigan a handful. Or it could apportion some of the delegates on district lines and declare the others at-large, again with Kennedy and Branigan sharing them.

—All 21 candidates on Kennedy's delegate slate in the District of Columbia were far outdistancing their Humphrey rivals. By unit rule Kennedy gets all 23 of Washington's convention votes.

Reagan Trails

Also in the D.C. voting, a GOP slate composed of both Nixon and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller supporters easily defeated a slate weighted toward California Gov. Ronald Reagan, a favorite-son candidate.

Gilligan's Ohio GOP Senate opponent apparently will be Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe who issued a victory statement after outdistancing two opponents.

—In Alabama, third-party presidential candidate George C. Wallace apparently won the right to run on his state's Democratic party ticket he appeared to have picked up at least 25 of 34 Alabama delegates to the Democratic convention.

—Florida Rep. Edward Gurney won the Republican senatorial nomination by a landslide but the Democratic race between former Gov. LeRoy Collins and Atty. Gen. Earl Faircloth appeared headed for a runoff.

No Future Claims

Kennedy was making no claims for the future after his Indiana victory, including his prospects in the Nebraska primary next Tuesday.

"Vice President Humphrey says he's the front runner, Sen. McCarthy says he's the front runner," Kennedy said. "I'm not making any predictions where I am because the only way I can do well is to take my campaign to the people."

He said the combination of results in the District of Columbia and Indiana "indicate a broad base of support for my candidacy."

But McCarthy and Branigan forces—and promoters of the Humphrey campaign—noted Kennedy was a minority winner. McCarthy said he would have gotten many of Branigan's votes in a two-man contest.

Bobby Has Money

"No one deserves any prizes in this contest," McCarthy said. "We will carry the fight to Nebraska. I think the direct confrontation that was denied us here in Indiana will be given us in Nebraska."

Sens. Walter F. Mondale and Fred R. Harris, co-chairmen of United Democrats for Humphrey said: "In the only pri-

Industry Asking Import Protection

Fewer And Bigger Is Trend In Mink Ranches

The mink ranches get like the rest of agricultural enterprise — bigger and fewer — a leader in the industry told the Escanaba Rotary Club at its luncheon meeting Tuesday noon at the House of Ludington.

Frank Bender Jr., Soo Hill mink rancher, past president of the National Board of Fur Farm Organizations and president of the Upper Michigan Mink Breeders Association, said that American mink breeders, like the steel and dairy industries, are now asking the federal government for some home market protection against imports.

Frank Bender, Jr.

In 1950 there were only 3 million mink pelts sold in the United States and 29 per cent of them imported. Last year there were sales of 13 million and 50 per cent of them came from abroad. U.S. mink breeders are asking for a 50 per cent tariff duty on imports which exceed 40 per cent of the American market. Imports last year were 5.3 million pelts, while the U.S. breeders have increased their exports from 200,000 to a million pelts.

Fewer Ranches

Scandinavia is the top competitor for world markets. Little Denmark, with only half as many people as Michigan, has more fur farmers than the U.S. and is No. 2 in production. (Erling Arntzen introduced Bender and quipped that the Scandinavians have been creating problems for years.)

In the United States the trade is moving westward and industrializing. There were 7,500 fur farmers in the U.S. a few years ago and now there are fewer than 4,000.

State No. 8

Escanaba's Jack Whitney started this huge industry in 1939 at Sheboygan, Wis., when he domesticated wild mink to produce ranch animals with exotic pelts that are now the No. 1 item in the fur trade. Its stands second only to rare mink drape and flow so that it flatters the figure and is softly lustrous.

Wild, Fast Growing

Twenty-three years ago the introduction of mutations in breeding revolutionized the mink industry, which now produces any color of pelt it desires, except green, by matching genetic factors in breeding. There are 21 different shades, 10 basic colors, with the red-orange-yellow range not as popular as the greys, blues and tans.

Although domesticated, the mink are as wild as forest mink, said Bender. The kits are being born now after 40-45 days gestation, and they average four to a litter, but reach as high as 13. In 8 weeks their prodigious appetites makes them three-quarters grown. They eat a quarter of their body weight every 24 hours in early life and this makes large quantities of feed a vital factor in mink ranching. The presence of so many mink ranches in the Escanaba area is due in large part to the availability of fish here.

The Bender ranch, in which Frank Bender Jr. is associated with his brother Kermit and his father, has 15,000 mink and uses 375 tons of smelt yearly.

Pope Plans To Visit Colombia

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI announced today he will make a two- or three-day visit to Colombia in August to attend the 38th International Eucharistic Congress in Bogota and to open a Latin-American bishops conference in Medellin.

It will be the longest trip in the 70-year-old pontiff's reign and the first by a pope to Latin America.

He made no mention of visiting other Latin-American countries that have invited him but there was a possibility of airport stopovers.

His announcement to a crowd of pilgrims at his weekly general audience in St. Peter's Basilica brought cheers.

The trip will be Pope Paul's sixth journey abroad since he became head of the Roman Catholic Church in June 1963.

He previously visited the Holy Land, the United Nations in New York, India, Portugal and Turkey.

The Bogota conference, an international meeting of Catholic prelates to honor the Eucharist — the central mystery of the Catholic faith — will be held Aug. 15-25.

There had been rumors here for months that the Pope was considering attending the conference. But until now the trip was in doubt because of the Pope's health.

Vatican informants say the Pope's decision to attend the congress was influenced by his interest in the developing world.

Woman Awaits Court Sentence

Mrs. Ruby Lindstrom, 35, of Escanaba, pleaded guilty Tuesday to a charge of receiving stolen property when arraigned before Circuit Judge Bernard H. Davidson in Marquette.

She is being held in the Delta county jail in lieu of bond pending sentencing June 3.

Mrs. Lindstrom was charged in connection with a series of breaking and enterings in Escanaba earlier this year.

Michael Leroy Hailey, 33, alias Walter Taft, is charged with the breakings and also with several counts of breaking and entering in Alabama, where he and Mrs. Lindstrom were arrested.

Mrs. Lindstrom was bound over to Circuit Court after waiving examination in Municipal Court.

Three Counties Endorse CAA

A meeting of the Menominee-Delta-Schoolcraft Community Action Agency was held in Escanaba Tuesday evening, May 7. Chairman Fred H. Hahne of Manistique presided at the meeting attended by Executive Committee members Carl R. Anderson, Escanaba; Carl Grassl, Menominee; Paul Nickell, Bark River; David G. Olive, Stephenson; Adam Sinclair, Gladstone and Robert Kanerva, Manistique.

A report was given by John Cooney, VISTA Volunteer, Rock, on the survey conducted by VISTA workers for the Gladstone Community School Adult Education Survey. According to Cooney, VISTAs from Rock and Nahma spent 53 hours compiling information on 749 adults in the Gladstone - Rapid River area who had not completed high school. Questionnaires were sent to the adults, with 51 individuals showing interest in high school credit courses and 88 requesting refresher courses. The VISTAs are sponsored by the Community Action Agency.

James Bruce, Head Start program director, reported that plans for summer Head Start programs are under way and that at this time it appears classes will be held in Gulliver, Manistique, Garden, Rapid River, Rock, Menominee, Powers - Spalding and Hermansville. Enrollment will be limited to 150 children, 90 per cent of whom must be from low-income families.

Agency Director Ray LaPorte informed the committee that the Boards of Supervisors for the three counties had adopted resolutions designating the agency to administer Community Action Programs in the area under the terms of the Green Amendment.

LaPorte also said that letters had been written to city governments, incorporated villages and township boards requesting the adoption of similar resolutions. The Green Amendment, which was passed last fall, allows local governments to apply for funds to operate Community Action Programs if the population of the county is in excess of 50,000 or in the case of a city, 250,000.

While none of the governmental units in the three counties are able to qualify, the Green Amendment still requires that the local Community Action Agency be designated to operate within the corporate boundaries of local governments.

The VISTA Volunteers reports on their activities for the past month and the area representatives reported a total of 655 contacts and follow-ups for the month.

Anti-Popes were illegitimate claimants of or pretenders to the papal throne.

Alewife Catches Keep Total Up

Total commercial fisheries production from the Great Lakes has increased for the third consecutive year, based on preliminary 1967 catch statistics recently released by the U.S. Department of the Interior's Bureau of Commercial Fisheries. The total take reported by U.S. and Canadian fishermen approximated 124.8 million pounds, the largest harvest since 1956 and one of the 10 highest on record (since 1879).

U.S. fishermen accounted for 64.2 per cent of the catch (80.1 million pounds), increasing their take by some 12.3 million pounds over 1966. The Canadian catch (44.7 million pounds) was about 3.1 million pounds less than in the previous year, with the bulk of the decline in Lake Erie. However, despite this decline, the 1967 Canadian catch was the fifth largest production recorded since 1879.

The increase in U.S. production can be attributed largely to intensification of the alewife fishery in Lake Michigan. The landing of almost 42 million pounds of alewives (some 12 million pounds more than in 1966) was the fourth highest production of any one species in the Great Lakes since 1879, the earliest year of recorded data (exceeded only by the catch of lake herring from Lake Erie in 1889, 1890 and 1918).

The Lake Michigan catch was almost 57.2 million pounds —

14.4 million pounds more than was landed in 1966. This was a record catch from the lake. Alewife accounted for 73 per cent of the total catch and chub, 17 per cent.

Lake Michigan displaced Lake Erie as the leading producer of fish. Lake Michigan landings exceeded those from Lake Erie by about 7.8 million pounds in 1967. With the exception of one year (1903), Lake Erie has always led the other lakes in total production.

In Lake Superior, U.S. fishermen took 454 thousand pounds less fish than in 1966, whereas Canadian fishermen reported an increase of 705 thousand pounds. Lake herring continues to decline.

Both U.S. and Canadian fishermen reported increased catches in Lake Ontario and decreased in Lake Huron.

County Primary Petitions Ready

Petitions are available in the county clerk's office for persons seeking nomination in the August primary for county offices open for election in November.

The Michigan Constitution adopted in 1963 now provides for election of county officers for four-year terms.

Delta County will elect a sheriff, prosecuting attorney, treasurer and a combined clerk and register of deeds.

Candidates must file nominating petitions by 4 p.m. June 18 to have their names placed on the primary ballot. All petitions must contain between one and four percent of the votes cast for the state office of secretary of state in the last general election.

County Clerk William E. Butler said today that means Delta County Democratic candidates must have at least 65 and not more than 260 signatures. Republican candidates need at least 45 and not more than 180 signatures.

The candidate of each party receiving the highest number of votes for each office in the primary will be nominated for the general election Nov. 5.

Both parties also will elect delegates to the county convention in the August primary. Petitions for county delegates must be filed by May 28.

A smooth-talking, personable young man cashed two checks in Escanaba—each in the amount of $40—after forging the signature of the late Charles Burton, Gladstone realtor.

The checks were drawn on the First National Bank of Escanaba. One was cashed by Ernie's Party Store and the other by O. K. Auto Parts at 1701 Ludington St.

Escanaba police reported that the forger, using the name Lloyd Stickler, opened a $5 checking account at the bank and promised a substantial deposit within a few days.

Traffic Study Scheduled At Iron Mountain

A comprehensive study of traffic movements in Iron Mountain, Kingsford and Norway, and neighboring Breitung and Norway townships, is scheduled to get underway June 3, the State Highway Commission announced today.

The origin and destination study, continuing through Aug. 23, will be conducted in cooperation with the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads, Dickinson County officials and the cities.

The Commission said the study will aid state and local officials in planning for highways, major streets, bridges and recreational facilities, and in appraising transportation deficiencies and parking requirements.

Interviewers will visit 1,700 homes in the area — every fifth home in the cities — to record the trips of family members during the previous 24-hour period.

In addition, the survey will include 24-hour studies of truck and taxi traffic.

In asking for wholehearted cooperation of area residents, the Commission said the project is decidedly worthwhile and that every person will be serving himself by giving his assistance.

Cost of the study is $46,077 with 75 per cent to be paid by the federal government, 12.5 per cent by the state, and 12.5 per cent by the cities and county.

The Commission said 28 people will be hired locally to assist traffic engineers with the study.

Open Housing

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The city of East Grand Rapids Monday became the second Grand Rapids suburb to adopt an open housing ordinance. City commissioners unanimously adopted an ordinance similar to one in the core city. Last month, the all-white suburb of Grandville adopted a fair housing code.

Schools To Try Again For 5.4 Mills June 10

By DAVE ANDREWS

A group of Escanaba Area High School students who had supported the school millage proposal displayed a sign Tuesday reading "If at First You Don't Succeed, Try, Try Again."

The Area Board of Education adopted that policy Tuesday night, voting unanimously to resubmit the 5.4 mill proposal to voters of the school district at the regular school board election June 10.

It will be the fourth attempt by the Board of Education in slightly over nine months to pass operating millage for the district.

Like the proposition defeated Monday, the 5.4 mills would be for only two years.

Action by the Board came in a special meeting called by Mrs. Robert Mosenfelder, president, to "decide where we go from here."

In answering the question, Trustee Richard Hanson said, "We go for 5.4 mills the first chance we get."

Budget Shows Deficit

The Board of Education has adopted a tentative 1968-69 operating budget of $2,647,000. Anticipated revenues are $2,409,000, leaving an anticipated deficit of about $238,000 unless additional revenue is obtained from local millage.

The school district expects to end the present school year with a $90,000 debt resulting from the defeat last Aug. 30 of the first millage proposal. A request Feb. 20 for seven mills and a bid Monday for 5.4 mills also lost.

"If we don't get our millage in by next September we've had a disaster," said Trustee Wheaton Strom. "I don't know what we'd do."

Proposals Gain

The Board of Education, outside of a statement in February which said that without millage there is a "real possibility" schools will not open, has made no statements concerning what it would do if voters continue to reject the tax proposals.

Members of the Board of Education noted that each proposal has come closer to winning and remain hopeful that a millage increase will be approved by Sept. 1, the deadline for extra voted millage to be placed on the tax rolls for 1968-69 benefit.

"We did gain at all of the polls," said Mrs. Mosenfelder. Monday's proposal was defeated at six of 10 area voting precincts, but the negative plurality was much less than in the previous two elections.

The June 10 election is the regular election established by law for election of school board members. Four seats on the board will be open. To date, Ralph Kaziatek is the only announced candidate. Deadline for filing nominating petitions is 4 p.m. Monday, May 13.

The Board of Education Tuesday night offered to discuss school financing with any other candidates who might file for the election.

The Board also expressed its appreciation to all of the residents of the area, student groups, and employee groups who worked on the last election campaign.

Few Michigan Homes Fit For Fallout Shelter

LANSING (AP) — Less than three per cent of Michigan homes with basements meet public fallout shelter standards, reports Col. Frederick E. Davis, State Police and civil defense director.

Davis said a recently completed home fallout protection survey reveals that 79 per cent of the homes had basements. Of these, only 57,012 met public falloutshelter standards.

More than 1.9 million dwellings were included in the statewide survey. Public fallout shelter standards require an occupant to be subjected to only one-fourth of the radiation that would endanger him in an unprotected area, Davis said.

Radio Month

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney has proclaimed May as Radio Month in Michigan and May 12-18 as Michigan Hospital Week.

OK School Levy

KALAMAZOO (AP)—The Kalamazoo City School District seeks voter approval of a 2.5-mill tax levy to provide an extra $903,000 operating fund.

The levy, to be voted June 10, has been cut from a 3.5-mill proposal defeated April 22.

United We Act...

The new Associated Chambers of Commerce of Upper Michigan addressed itself to Gov. George Romney in one of its first actions after organization.

Governor, it said, in effect, we think that the Upper Peninsula has two compelling highway needs. They are:

1. A new four lane highway leading up out of Wisconsin on US-41 from Green Bay into the central Upper Peninsula.

(This highway is not divided at present, has only two lanes.)

2. Improvement of US-2, the Upper Peninsula's chief east-west highway.

We know, Governor, said the Associated Chambers over the signature of President Frank Bourke of Escanaba, about the limited funds to take care of all the state's highway needs.

"But in view of the fact that future planning for US-2 provides for improvement of only a few miles (of the 300), we question whether objectivity has been displayed by the Highway Department."

The Associated Chambers wonder whether it wouldn't be helpful if the governor were to name to the State Highway Commission someone from the Upper Peninsula "or someone aware of its needs" so that this one third of the state would receive more than its present share of less than one per cent of state highway construction funds.

Associated Chambers make eminent good sense throughout in Bourke's letter to Governor Romney and we're sure he will recognize its appeal for fair treatment for the Upper Peninsula. We are the forgotten land of state highway planning, with 30 per cent of Michigan's land surface but only 3 per cent of its people.

We can see no magic in the appointment of an Upper Peninsular to the Highway Commission, but at least he should be able to remind the other commissioners that it is foolish for the state to subsidize a tourist lure program when adequate highways to serve it are lacking.

The ACCUM is trying for a breakthrough in state thinking about Upper Peninsular needs. It suggests that if the Governor won't appoint an Upper Peninsular to the Highway Commission that he name someone aware of its needs. It is hard to believe, looking at the state's highways in the U. P., that there is this awareness.

"US-2," says the Associated Chambers "is accurately described as being barely adequate in the best sections, absolutely primitive in its worst and substandard overall. In highway nomenclature it is a major arterial; in relative condition it is a major disgrace."

The Upper Peninsula's dilemma is apparent in its hopes. It needs help from both Wisconsin and Lower Michigan in highway development. Most of its traffic comes out of Wisconsin and its funnel into US-41 in the U. P. is inadequate, but Wisconsin is improving US-41 as a two-laner and, hopefully, might under Michigan's strong urging make a four laner of it to help develop interstate recreational and business traffic.

The degree of U. P. despair is evident in the modesty of suggestion on US-2. It makes no plea for inclusion of the route in the Interstate System nor the construction of a superhighway with limited access. Just make it safe, it suggests.

Instead the state is reducing the tolls on the Mackinac Bridge in the apparent hope of increasing traffic on this dangerous highway. We need the business, chums, but we dread the carnage.

The bidding of today's hand is interesting in that each player had a decision to make at almost every turn to bid. East might well have responded with one spade. He only held four high card points, but six - card spade suits don't grow on bushes.

South might well have passed and tried to set one heart, but South's hand might well produce a game if North could make some move to help.

North didn't move right away, but after East reopened with two spades, North gave a belated club raise. West got into the act and pushed to three spades, whereupon North made a slightly unsound four-club bid. South wasn't supposed to go on. You don't go to game after both you and your partner have shown a desire to try for a part score, but South decided that he had underbid his hand materially and that he wanted to play at game.

South's decision was unfortunate but we can't criticize him for making it. He had made only one mild bid with his tremendous hand.

West opened his ace of hearts to have a look around the table. He suspected that there might be a singleton heart somewhere and if his partner held it, West was going to give him a ruff.

When North showed up with a heart singleton and East played the discouraging deuce, West shifted to his ace of spades.

East wanted his partner to lead another heart. East could overruff dummy, but how could East make sure of that heart shift?

East worked it out! He dropped his king of spades under his partner's ace. West was surprised, but he wasn't too surprised to lead a heart and set the contract.

State Bald Eagles Facing Extinction

The American bald eagle, proud symbol of the nation, is declining in numbers in a state where it made one of its most determined stands for survival: Michigan.

Inroads from pesticides, encroaching civilization, vandals and other causes have biologists concerned that the big bird may be on its way out.

Over the North American continent, the only continent where it is found, the bird is disappearing fast, says the National Audubon Society. There are probably no more than 1,500 of them that nest south of the U. S.-Canadian border and perhaps 3,500 more that winter in the contiguous states but return to Canada or Alaska to nest.

The bird is protected by federal law, but shooting through misidentification is only one of the menaces to its survival.

Prof. William L. Thompson, a Wayne State University biologist who has given years of study to Michigan bird life, emphasizes the menace of insecticides to the eagle's survival.

Pesticides used in the extensive vegetable and fruit growing areas along the Great Lakes shores find their way into the water and are ingested by fish. The eagles appear to suffer in some way after eating the fish.

Whatever the chemical effect the insecticides have on the big birds, the pairs which inhabit the Great Lakes shores are reproducing at a low rate, apparently lower than in the past, Dr. Thompson says.

This goes along with the belief of numerous biologists that certain of the chemical compounds used interfere seriously with the birds' reproductive processes.

Sergej Postupalsky, a Wayne alumnus who specializes in biology, has been studying bald eagles in Michigan since 1960. After personally locating 92 pairs in the state during 1967, he estimates Michigan's population at between 100 and 110 pairs, about 70 per cent residing in the Upper Peninsula. His research is being aided by the National Audubon Society and the Detroit Audubon Society.

The estimate would put Michigan third in eagle population. Alaska, which has the most eagles, is estimated to be the home of several thousand pairs. Florida is second.

The white headed eagle or bald eagle was chosen for our national bird on June 20, 1782, despite Benjamin Franklin's proposal that the turkey be the nation's bird. Earlier the eagle was the supreme totem of the Six Nations of Iroquois Indians.

Long ago Indians kept the eagle as a domestic pet. Up to 1900, these Indians would take the young eagles from their nests and raise them in cages or tied by thongs to rocks. They would then harvest eagle feathers for magical, medicinal or religious rites; also for arrows or mere decoration.

The early Indians' relationship to the eagle was a benign one. Present-day man's activities appear to be much more menacing to the bird's survival.

Liberalism Perils Red Satellite Grip

By LEON DENNEN

NEW YORK (NEA) — The convulsions in the Communist world have been largely obscured by President Johnson's decision not to seek re-election, riots in American cities and the prospect of peace in Vietnam, however remote that event.

Yet there is clear evidence that history has taken a dramatic turn in favor of the non-Communist world.

When the Reds are in deep trouble and fight among themselves the free nations have a breathing spell. They have an opportunity to reappraise their policies and turn to more constructive matters.

It was a worried Leonid Brezhnev who reported to the Central Committee of the Soviet Communist party about the political—and essentially anti-Russian—reforms in Czechoslovakia and student unrest in Poland.

The Central Committee's call for greater repression and tighter censorship in Russia also reflected the Kremlin's apprehension over the growth of dissidence among Soviet intellectuals, students and young workers.

After 50 years of Marxist-Leninist indoctrination and brain-washing, Brezhnev had to admit that Western concepts of freedom and democracy influence the young behind the Iron Curtain. The "capitalists" are undermining the socialist society from inside," the Kremlin's rulers complained.

But it is in their foreign policy that they have suffered the greatest setback. The Central Committee's resolution declared in typical Marxist-Leninist doubletalk.

"The entire huge apparatus of anti-Communist propaganda is now directed at weakening the unity of socialist countries—the international Communist movement—and at splitting the front—ranking forces of our time."

This is a revealing, if welcome, admission by the heirs of Lenin who predicted more than five decades ago the inevitable decline of democracy and triumph of the so-called dictatorship of the proletariat.

But "facts are stubborn things," as Lenin himself said. If the West's NATO alliance is in trouble, the Communists' European alliance—the Warsaw Pact—is in a state of total disarray.

NATO must cope with President De Gaulle. But the prestige of France's aged prima donna is declining even in his own country. He has no visible successor. His anti-American policies will disappear with him.

The conflicts in the Communist world, especially between Russia and Red China, go much deeper. The once rigid Red monolith is now crumbling.

The recent Russian-sponsored Communist conference at Budapest was attended by a host of phantom mini-parties from the United States to San Marino and San Salvador. But there were no delegates from Red China, North Vietnam, North Korea, Cuba, Yugoslavia and Albania.

Romania left the conference in protest against Russia's attempt to dominate it. It was one more symptom of the difficulties the Russians now have in running the kind of international show that suits their purposes.

The Russians and Walter Ulbricht, their most subservient puppet in Communist East Germany, have been struggling for more than two years to prevent the East European Communist countries from taking up diplomatic relations with West Germany.

They view such relations as a threat to the Warsaw military pact and to the political status of East Germany.

But now Czechoslovakia intends to follow Romania and Yugoslavia and establish full diplomatic relations with Bonn.

To be sure, despite their "liberal" reforms, the Communists still have a stranglehold on the countries they dominate. But the handwriting on the wall is there for all to see. When there is an outbreak of "liberalism" in one country, it tends to spread across the frontiers.

SPLENDID

I passed through your city last Thursday evening, April 25, and I spent a very enjoyable evening at the High School when I saw "My Fair Lady." I must say that this was a splendidly casted and directed amateur show.

PRIDE

What a pleasure to attend the Area High School open house Sunday and to see the fine things our young people are doing!

The students certainly did a fine job organizing and presenting their program. The large number of students and faculty participating is indeed heartening. In these days when the demonstrators, delinquents, and other trouble makers make the headlines, it is easy to forget that most of our boys and girls are good, conscientious members of our society.

Incidentally, we had not previously toured the high school and, in addition to being proud of our students, we are proud of our school facilities.

RODEO

On Sunday a "Bike Safety Check and Bike Rodeo" was held at the Escanaba park.

There are many who may not know the magnitude of this event.

The members of the JC's and the Optimist Club gave their combined effort to put this over in a big way.

Well over 800 children registered to take the tests and have their bikes checked for safe riding in and around the Escanaba area.

The children came by the hundreds; all ages, boys and girls, most all of them came without their parents.

The great number were there at one time, they stood in line for bike checks and safety tests, some of them as long as an hour. There was no rowdiness; almost no horse play. All conducted themselves in an outstanding manner. The parents of these children can be proud. Their main concern was the safety check and their eagerness to pass with flying colors.

My thanks go to those who made this event possible. The cooperation of the Escanaba City Police Department, the public and parochial schools, the PTA's, the bike merchants of Escanaba who made it possible to have prizes, the Daily Press and both radio stations for their contributions of time and space.

Special thanks to the parents who cooperated in letting their children attend and who helped them prepare their bikes.

Your children were great, they learned their lessons well! Thanks, too, to one of our Escanaba Police patrolmen, Gary LaPlant, who went to all the schools and instructed them in bike safety just prior to the bike check.

President,
Escanaba Optimist Club

Dear Ann Landers: My question: Does the brain lose weight when the rest of the body loses?

A friend of mine went on a strenuous diet six months ago. Bertha was about 40 pounds overweight and determined to get down to a size 10 by her 55th birthday. She accomplished her goal but I think something happened to her mind.

Bertha has taken to wearing false eyelashes, lace stockings and miniskirts. Even her walk is different. Everyone has noticed such a change in her personality (and not for the better, I might add) that I'm beginning to think a severe weight loss could affect the mind. I'll be waiting for your answer. — GRINNING BUT NOT BEARING IT

Dear Not Bearing: Weight loss does not affect the brain but it can and often does affect the personality. Bertha is probably feeling years younger and has the mistaken notion that just because she can fit into a junior size, her face is also a junior. A woman in her mid-fifties in a miniskirt and lace stockings is a sad sight. Maybe her best friend will tell her.

Dear Ann Landers: Recently you ran a letter from a girl who was advocating "free love." I had to smile when I read the girl's letter. She wrote as if she had invented something. I'll bet many people have the idea that free love is part of the "new morality"—something modern.

I am 53 years old and heard the same guff 40 years ago. My older sister was a teenager at the end of World War I. Free love was very big among the nonconformist thinkers. When I talked to my mother about it (she is 86 years old now), she told me there were free love champions in HER day. "Of course they were sneakier about it," she laughed, "but we all knew who they were."

Interesting how the abused and degraded institution of marriage survives through the ages in spite of the people who ignore it and insist they have found something better. It's enough to make a girl decide maybe it's smart to be "old-fashioned." — OBSERVER OF THE PASSING SCENE

Dear Ob: So long as there are people there will be those who think they can buck the tide, beat the rap and operate successfully outside the framework of society. I've said it before and I'll say it again — free love can be mighty expensive.

Dear Ann Landers: A friend of mine has asked me to be an usher at his wedding. I was sort of honored until I learned it was going to be a formal affair in a church. This means I have to rent a tux.

I asked Bart who was going to pay for renting the durned monkey suit and he said, "Ann Landers says YOU are." I asked him where he ran into Ann Landers and he told me his girl had invested 35c in your booklet on who pays for what at weddings.

Who gave you the power to make these decisions? I am not a Rockefeller and I have to buy a wedding gift, too. Is this fair? — FLAT POCKETS

Dear Flat: Come on, Bub, loosen up and be a big spender. Custom and good manners say the ushers and bridesmaids buy or rent their own outfits. I didn't make up the rules — that's just the way it is.

"The Bride's Guide," Ann Landers' booklet, answers some of the most frequently asked questions about weddings. To receive your copy of this comprehensive guide, write to Ann Landers in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35c in coin.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"Quotes"

Will all malcontent priests who intend to leave the priesthood and/or the church please do so by March 12, 1968, so that their colleagues and the rest of us can get on with the very serious business of reform and renewal?

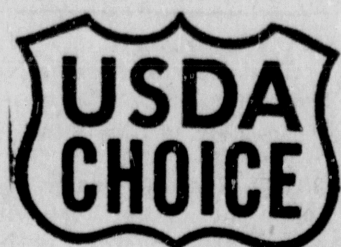

— Dan Herr, publisher of the "Critic," Catholic layman's magazine

It does not make sense to test an applicant by having him drive around a couple of blocks and then turn him loose in city traffic.

Logging Helped State Habitat For Wildlife

By LEE SMITS
Our big geography book told us a lifetime ago, that lumber was Michigan's chief product. After the big Chicago fire, in 1871, Michigan took credit for the rebuilding of Chicago, with lumber hauled from our lake ports. At the peak of pine logging, sawmills screamed day and night in the lake ports from Saginaw around to Lake Michigan and south to Muskegon, which was known as the Queen of Lumber Towns.

logging, summer logging with big wheels, although famous rivers such as the Au Sable, Boardman, Manistee continued to carry logs down to the mills until the last pine was cut.

Logging towns gloried in their wickedness. Muskegon held first place as a center of sin until the distinction was claimed for Seney in the Upper Peninsula. Eventually Michigan succumbed to respectability and to find revelry unrestrained you had to cross the border to Hurley, Wisconsin.

Tales of a dive in Saginaw equipped with a trap door for the disposition of corpses and the stereotyped account of lumberjack fights that wound up with the winner stomping the loser with river boots studded with needle-sharp spikes. They were a part of a legend that still survives.

A factual account of how logging affected Michigan's outdoor resources might well go back to the elimination of grayling from the Au Sable. Spring log drives that scooped out grayling spawning beds are believed to have hastened the extinction of a species that drew anglers to Michigan from places as distant as the British Isles.

However, the over-all effect of timber cutting has been to greatly improve wildlife habitat. Solid forest does not support game. When cedar swamps were devastated of trees suitable for poles and ties lush second growth provided ideal winter forage for deer. The next boost for the deer herd came with big hardwood operations at the turn of the century. Second-growth helped launch the miraculous upshoot in deer population. White clover, brought in with horse feed, provided a lush fare for ruffed grouse. After fire was brought under control, half a century ago, Michigan's northern counties became a paradise for game.

Forest products are still highly important to the economy of many northern communities. Pulpwood cutting provides additional deer forage, from tops and second growth.

From woodcock to wild turkey, from cottontail to elk, Michigan game is in fair abundance. Rising human pressure might eventually bring about disaster if conservation measures were not rigorously applied. There is every reason to hope that future generations will enjoy a wildlife heritage richer than we had reason to expect at the turn of the century.

JAMES E. BOUGIE, Specialist 4th class, has been advanced to that rating from Pfc. Presently he is on leave at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Bougie, 616 N. 19th St., and will leave on Friday to return to his Army station at Kellinghausen, Germany. He graduated from Holy Name High School in 1966, entered the Army in February 1967, and has been in Germany since Sept. 1967.

Living In Blackening Nation

Negro Educator Has Some Queries

America's problem of decision on what to teach its youth was examined by Dr. Alvin Loving, professor of education at the University of Michigan, in keynoting the recent conference on vocational education sponsored by the Human Resources Council of UPACAP at Northern Michigan University, Marquette. He especially cited the problem of white accommodation to Negro population.

"We are commissioned to teach human worth, human dignity and to teach toward the goal of an integrated democratic society," said Dr. Loving. "But by omission we have perpetuated the status quo which supports bigotry, segregation and discrimination."

As a result of this, the educator said, schooling has been criticized and remedial education has been sponsored by the government.

Dr. Alvin Loving

Enormous Change

"We in education and other well meaning people have been saying we will solve our problems, but that it will take time, give us a hundred years," said Dr. Loving. "But (people) are saying that we have lost sight of reality. Let us recall the tremendous changes of the immediate past."

"Ninety per cent of all the scientists who have ever lived in the history of man are living today and these men are creating for us many problems that they say the social scientists and the teachers will have to solve."

"Look at the span of life. They tell us that many children today in our kindergartens will live to be 150 years old... What does a person do with 85 years of retirement?"

U.S. Population Explosion

"When we speak of the population explosion many of us do not realize that this means America as well as India or China. If the expanded rate of births in the United States continues, by the year 2100 the population of the United States will be 3 billion."

"This is roughly the present world population, which includes India's 550 million and China's 675 million people. The Statistical Bureau indicates that the non-white population of the United States increased 50 per cent faster than the white population between 1950 and 1960. In 1950 one of every 10 Americans was a Negro, by 1965 one of every 9 was Negro and by 1972 one of every 8 will be Negro. Today, of children under 14, one of every 7 is Negro. Of children under age one, one of every 6 is Negro."

Second Most Negroes

"Only one country in the world — Nigeria with 58 million — has more Negroes than the United States. This is simply calling to your attention the facts as they are."

"Do you remember when you didn't see Negroes in restaurants, or hotels or on the first floor of movie houses?"

"Let's play a new game, 'White Racism,' prompted by the Kerner Report. If your answer is 'Yes,' you may be a racist. The questions:

"Isn't it true that all Negroes are lazy?"

"That all Negroes can sing and dance?"

"That there is a difference in white blood and Negro blood?"

Negroes Bring Blight?

"That Negroes bring blight to all good neighborhoods?"

"That Negroes make poor soldiers?"

"That some races are more intelligent than others?"

"That intermarriage is wrong?"

"That Negroes are incapable of holding high positions?"

"That those who do are exceptional?"

"That Negroes should be hired to sit by the door?"

"That Negroes want something different than majority Americans?"

"That it is OK to say 'You people' or 'Your people' or to refer to Negroes as 'they' or 'them.'"

"Don't you feel that Negroes who speak out and demand their rights are pushy?"

Faced Throughout Life

"Don't you anger when you see a Negro-white couple?"

standards, a Negro.

"That Hannibal was a Negro. The founder of Chicago was Negro. One of Columbus' captains was a Negro. Or that 180,000 Negroes finally fought on the side of the North in the Civil War and were probably the difference between victory and defeat. But instead, my history books, as I grew up in the North, referred to Negro women as concubines and this in itself is an insult to the Negro male."

"Negro children were referred to as pickaninnies. The elected officials who went to Washington and to the state houses were referred to as ignorant slaves. Africans were referred to as head-hunters, Hottentots, bushmen. How could one get a positive image from these references? I had to go to Africa to have my image changed."

Hanna Explores For Ore On Gogebic And Menominee

Mineral exploration goes on nearly all the time in an area as highly mineralized as the Upper Peninsula of Michigan. It is the preliminary game of "I Spy!" which leads to mining and mineral industry when there are discoveries of commercial worth.

First copper mining and iron mining in the Upper Peninsula was on outcrops of mineral deposits which were exposed on the surface. Since then the science of geology (study of the earth's surface layering) has advanced a great deal and so has the technique of mineral discovery.

One of the big mining companies currently engaged in mineral exploration in the Upper Peninsula is Hanna Mining Co., which completed expansion of its Groveland Mine at Randville in Dickinson County early this year and which is mining natural ore on the Menominee Range as a part owner of the Homer-Wauseka Mine in Iron County. The Groveland mine, beneficiation and pelletizing plant now has a capacity of 2.1 million tons of pellets yearly.

Two Fields

Hanna's current explorations include two interests that attract special Upper Peninsula interest because one is in an area which was once very active in iron mining and which now has no mines, and the other is in an area which has never had any iron mining.

Hanna reports that it is continuing preliminary drilling on an ore body on the Gogebic Range in the western Upper Peninsula. The Gogebic was the last of the three Upper Peninsula iron ranges opened to mining, in 1884, at the Colby Mine. The last mine on the range, the Peterson, ended operations in 1966.

Range Dormant

The range stopped mineral production not because its ores were all mined, but because mining of them had ceased to be economic. All the Gogebic mines where shaft mines and the trend in iron mining is to surface mining of ore bodies by open pit method, and the ores are beneficiated (refined) to increase the iron content of the pellets made from their concentrates.

The worked Gogebic ores were not regarded as amenable to surface mining and beneficiation because of chemical structure and geology.

The mineral industry has never believed that Gogebic mining was dead, only that it was dormant until mining technology and new discovery supplied methods for profitable production or iron.

Continue Studies

Hanna reports that its preliminary drilling on the Gogebic Range has indicated "a potential reserve of commercial size, and further drilling, metallurgical testing and economic feasibility studies are being carried out."

Years of work went into the study of the Groveland mine ore before the huge beneficiation and concentrating plant was constructed there. A pilot plant was operated at the site of the old, abandoned shaft mine first. It had produced natural ore.

Modern mine plants require huge investments and they are not made to produce iron from small deposits. About 2 million tons of production a year is a base figure for such projects.

Menominee County Inquiry

The other Hanna exploration which is exciting public interest is in northern Menominee County. The Menominee Iron Range goes underground there and is covered by limestones and sandstones.

There is a magnetic anomaly there, indicating mineralization, and there has been quite a bit of diamond drilling in the area to examine the sub-surface geology for iron deposits. This area is an extension of the Menominee Iron Range eastward and there has been drilling as far as Schoolcraft County to sound its potential for mining with modern methods.

Cleveland Cliffs Iron Co., which is mining and beneficiating iron ores on the Marquette range at the Humboldt, Republic and Empire mines, has explored the northern Menominee County area. And Hanna Mining Co. has also been active there and continues its exploratory drilling under a contract with Boyle Brothers, operating out of Iron Mountain.

Sell Rights

Last March the Michigan Conservation Commission approved sale of exploratory rights on 560 acres in Northern Menominee County to Hanna Mining Co., for $11 after Hanna had submitted the highest bid at a public auction. The price only confirms a permit for exploration and does not sell any ore. If commercial operations develop it is removed under a royalty payment program. The mining company bears the cost of the exploration, which is expensive.

The acreage on which Hanna has exploration rights in Northern Menominee County is in Spalding and Harris townships. Some of it had been owned by the Ford River Lumber Co., some is listed in the Menominee County Plat Book as under Oliver Iron Mining Co., ownership. Oliver was a mining subsidiary of U.S. Steel Co., which is a large owner of land in Spalding Township.

The parcels included in the 560 acres are:

Self-Insurance For State, Is Hare Suggestion

LANSING (AP)—Secretary of State James Hare, whose department has lost one of its insurance policies and faces loss of another, says Michigan's government ought to consider insuring itself.

A resolution to set up a legislative committee to study the question has been introduced in the Senate at Hare's request.

The secretary told the state Administrative Board Tuesday that the department's "money and security" insurance, covering holdups and burglaries at its branch offices around the state, was cancelled a month ago.

Without it, he added, the department would have to pay what it considers unreasonable rates of $100,000 a year, an $87,000 increase, for insurance covering embezzlement and "mysterious disappearance" of funds.

One solution to the dilemma, Hare said, would be state self-insurance, where money lost would be considered lost revenue and made good from other state funds.

Hare's resolution calls for a six-member House-Senate committee to consider the idea and to make recommendations to the Legislature next year.

Red Cross May Help In Nation's Racial Problems

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—The American National Red Cross, known for its disaster aid, is taking a serious look at helping in the nation's racial crisis.

E. Roland Harriman, national chairman, told the 43rd annual convention that the board of governors resolved not only to aid victims of riots but to work toward curing the social ills which precede them.

Ramone S. Eaton, Red Cross national vice president, said racial injustice is "maybe the greatest single challenge that our nation has ever faced."

He said it confronts the organization with "one of the greatest opportunities... we ever had in the history of the Red Cross."

Eaton said such a crusade will call for soul-searching and imagination by local Red Cross chapters. "It is no longer possible to reach out and hand somebody something in the area of assistance," he said.

Napalm Protest Planned Today At Dow Meeting

MIDLAND (AP) — Midland's full 32-man police force was placed on alert today and a State Police observer was on hand to prevent possible violence between disparate groups picketing a Dow Chemical Co. annual stockholders meeting.

Several hundred members and supporters of Clergy and Laymen Concerned about Vietnam planned to appear at the meeting to protest Dow's production of Napalm B, a jellied gasoline used extensively in Vietnam in incendiary bombing.

The group telegraphed Gov. George Romney expressing fear that the Midland police might not be able to protect demonstrators because of the expected appearance of a Detroit group called Breakthrough, a right-wing organization that has been involved in counterdemonstrations.

State Police Deputy Director Lt. Col. Melvin Kaufman promised to be ready to supplement Midland police if needed. He said the State Police posts at Mount Pleasant, Bay City, West Branch and Bridgeport are all close enough to Midland to be able to move in reinforcements quickly.

About 300 persons attended a meeting in Ann Arbor Tuesday night to hear plans for the demonstration. Plans for an 11 a.m. meeting between representatives of the group and Dow board chairman Carl Gers-tacker was announced.

The Rev. Richard Fernandez, 34, chairman of the clergy group, said they have obtained at least 27 permits, which will allow group members to enter the shareholders meeting. The meeting has been closed to all but stockholders and employees of Dow.

The church group is supported by 13 Episcopal, Methodist and Roman Catholic bishops who sent a letter to Gers-tacker expressing their "outrage at the untold and unnecessary suffering caused by napalm bombing."

The group planned to ask stockholders to suspend their roles and discuss Dow's policy of manufacturing napalm.

The shooting spree which resulted in the death of six others, occurred in the Lake Road Tavern at Lake and Airport Roads in Ironwood Township. Pearson was charged specifically in the death of Maurin.

Roadside Grass Trim Reduced

LANSING (AP) — The State Highway Department reports it plans to trim $500,000 off its budget this year by less trimming of grass and weeds along roadside rights of way.

The department spent $1.7 million for grass and weed control in 1966-67. The budget for this purpose was cut to $1.2 million in 1967-68.

All but essential mowings will be delayed until July 1, when operations will be limited to two complete cuttings a year in the northern 40 counties and a maximum of three a year in the southern 43 counties.

Mowing also will be limited, in most instances, to within 15 feet of the shoulder of the road. Previously roadways have been mowed an average of three or four times a year, generally to the right of way line.

More complete mowings will be continued on depressed freeways, urban parkways and other areas where the grass should be cut more often for highway safety.

Small Parties On Michigan Ballot

LANSING (AP) — Only two minority parties presently are qualified for a position on the Nov. 5 election ballot, reports Secretary of State James Hare. The two certain starters, in addition to the Democratic and Republican parties, are the Socialist Labor and Socialist Worker parties.

Couch Is Off Limits For Tigress

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — George Olfern has a house guest who eats 10 pounds of raw chicken necks a day and keeps the neighbor's dogs scared stiff. She's Tammy, a 110-pound Bengal tigress.

Tammy and her master, Bill Seefeldt, are staying with the Olferns while Bill fights an order from the Dade Public Safety Department, which wants Tammy caged.

At present Tammy has the run of Olferns' six-room house. His wife, Lilly, and their two children, Dale, 19 and Barry, 15, say they couldn't be happier.

"We all love Tammy," said Barry, who often shares his twin bed with the 11-month-old tigress.

"She pushed me out of bed the other night," he said. "And she wakes either Bill or me every morning at 5:30 sharp by licking us in the face. You ought to feel her tongue, it feels like sandpaper."

Bill, a 25-year-old tropical fish breeder, takes Tammy for a stroll every morning before he goes to work. During the day she stays in the Olferns' backyard, chained to a tree, or sits on his bed, looking out the window.

Lilly Olfern, who helps her husband run their stereo-record shop, draws just one line where Tammy is concerned. Her couch is off limits.

"The only problem, I've had since she moved in two weeks ago," Mrs. Olfern said, "is the crowds we've had. All the neighbors want to see Tammy."

Bill got Tammy from an animal dealer eight months ago when she was no bigger than large housecat. In another year she will weigh about 240 pounds, he says.

Sheriff's deputies recently served Bill with an order to keep Tammy caged. The paper said the agency had received complaints that the tigress was allowed to run loose.

The Public Safety Department pointed out that Miami residents must have permits for carnivorous animals and that includes tigers. Officials said Bill would get a permit when Tammy got a cage.

Seefeldt says Tammy is harmless and he will go to court before he puts her in a cage.

Stiff Poacher Penalty Voted

LANSING (AP) — Anticipating the hunting and fishing seasons of 1968, the House of Representatives passed five conservation-related bills Tuesday and sent two of them to the governor.

Two of the measures are aimed at poachers of moose and wild turkey and at hunters who bang away within range of farmhouses. Another authorizes the Conservation Department to negotiate agreements with other states of fishing regulations.

Sent to Gov. George Romney for his consideration was a bill setting mandatory fines of from $200 to $300 per animal for each moose illegally killed or possessed and from $100 to $200 for each wild turkey.

A poacher not paying the extra judgement would be ineligible for a hunting license for three years. Rep. Raymond Baker, R-Farmington, introduced the measure.

Also before Romney for final action is a bill sponsored by Rep. Blair Woodman, R-Owosso, forbids hunting and shooting within 150 yards of an occupied dwelling or related building unless the owner or occupant has given permission.

Exempt from the "safety zone" bill would be the land's owner or occupant or invited guests, or to hunters shooting fowl over a lake.

A pair of bills introduced by Sen. Gordon Rockwell, R-Mount Morris, and passed by the House without amendment, forbid catching fish merely to strip their eggs, and require a Conservation Department permit to bring live fish or viable eggs into Michigan.

Dickinson Road Study Is Planned

LANSING (AP) — The State Highway Department reports it will start June 3 on a study of traffic movements in Iron Mountain, Kingsford, Norway and neighboring Brietung and Norway townships.

The origin and destination study will be continued through Aug. 23. It will be conducted in cooperation with the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads, Dickinson County and local officials.

The study is intended as an aid to planning for the construction of highways, major streets, bridges and recreational facilities in the area.

Ford In Korea

SEOUL (AP) — Ford Motor Co. is expected to start marketing in October its "Cortina" cars to be assembled locally in partnership with a South Korean firm, Commerce and Industry Minister Kim Chung-Yum said.

TWO TINY passersby stop to scratch Tammy as she stretches out on a Miami sidewalk after a walk with her master Bill Seefeldt. Tammy is the subject of a dispute in Miami. Bill wants to keep her uncaged but officialdom disagrees. Meanwhile Tammy is living in the house ... like any other pussycat. (AP Wirephoto)

Johnson Sees Loan Rate Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pres. Johnson said Tuesday 10 per cent mortgage money is a possibility should Congress fail to pass the 10 per cent income tax surcharge he seeks.

Johnson made this statement in signing into law legislation removing the 6 per cent interest ceiling on mortgages insured by the Federal Housing Administration and guaranteed by the Veterans Administration.

Rates on FHA and VA mortgages will now find their own level in the market place and Johnson predicted that the higher rates expected—perhaps 6½ per cent—would make it easier for Americans to finance home purchases.

The President voiced congratulations to the House Ways and Means Committee for its decision to endorse a ten per cent tax increase coupled with a $4 billion cutback in federal spending in the bookkeeping year that begins July 1.

The committee action alone did not insure enactment of higher taxes, however, and Johnson chose the bill-signing occasion to push anew for action.

Noting that while the tax bill has languished in Congress—that was his phrase—mortgage rates have jumped to 7 per cent and even 8 per cent from 5½ per cent, the chief executive said experts had told him that without a tax hike "10 per cent mortgage rates are not outside the realm of possibility."

Governors Map GOP Platform

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Six Republican governors have arrived in Albuquerque to take a sampling Thursday of possible campaign issues.

Aides to Gov. George Romney said at Lansing, Mich., that the Michigan governor did not intend to attend the meeting.

After arriving the governors will attend a $10-a-person reception, with part of the proceeds ticketed to go to host Gov. David C. Hoag's expected campaign for re-election. The proceeds also will finance the governors' stay in Albuquerque.

Other governors who GOP spokesmen say will be in Albuquerque will include Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania, John H. Chafee of Rhode Island, John A. Love of Colorado, John R. Williams of Arizona and Dewey F. Bartlett of Oklahoma. Spokesmen said Nebraska Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann might attend.

The governors, who are helping map the Republican party's platform for the 1968 election, open a hearing at 9 a.m. Thursday with Cargill presiding. They leave Albuquerque four hours later for Denver, Colo., and another hearing.

Market Posts Small Advance

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market posted a small advance in fairly active trading early today.

The average showed little change, but advances of individual stocks topped declines by nearly 300 issues.

The upward move was a modest continuation of Tuesday's advance. A string of advancing sessions had been interrupted Monday.

The New York Stock Exchange ticker tape caught up after falling three minutes behind in reporting floor transactions soon after the opening.

Motors and electronics showed strength. Oils declined.

Some brokers said they expected the momentum of Tuesday's advance to carry on as a result of progress in Congress toward a tax increase and reports that full peace negotiations would be carried on by the United States and North Vietnam in Paris.

Copper Range Plans Sawmill Complex In U.P.

Copper Range Co. will erect and operate a new wood fabrication complex in Houghton County, Dr. James Boyd, president of the Copper Range announced today.

The $2 million facility will manufacture high quality, pre-finished components for the furniture and other wood working industries. The complex will be comprised of a sawmill, lumber drying facilities and a furniture component fabrication plant, which will be erected on land owned by the Copper Range Co. near Highway M-26, one-half mile north of the village of South Range, in Houghton County.

Nixon, campaigning in Nebraska, said he thinks McCarthy remains a strong Democratic contender because of his enthusiastic volunteer support—but will not win his party's nomination.

"He'll have the enthusiasm but he will not have the money or the organization," Nixon said. "Hubert Humphrey will have the organization; Bobby's got the money."

Nixon also predicted Kennedy will be the Democratic winner in Nebraska next week and Humphrey will be second on write-in votes.

MID-UPPER PENINSULA NOMINATIONS for Product of the Year in Michigan Week are the Game Getter Scope Mount manufactured by Marble Arms, Gladstone, and the Bel-Aire Camper manufactured by Melton Demerse, Escanaba. The two product prides of local manufacture are pictured above. The nominations now go to state judging, announce Leo Alperovitz and Joseph Heirman, the chairman of the local committee of selection in the Michigan Week organization. Michigan Week will be observed this year from Saturday, May 18 through Saturday, May 25.

Mid-Upper Peninsula Makes Its Product Of Year Choices

Nominate Camper And Scope Mount

Delta County has selected the Bel-Aire Camper and the Game Getter Scope Mount as co-winners of the County Product of the Year entrants in the annual Michigan Week contest.

The Bel-Aire Camper is produced by Melton Demerse of Escanaba and the Game Getter is produced by Marble Arms of Gladstone.

Leo Alperovitz and Joseph Heirman announce that one of these two entrants will be selected as the Michigan Product of the Year entrant from Region 2 comprising Delta, Alger, Menominee, Dickinson, Marquette, and Schoolcraft counties and will be sent to Lansing for competition with other regional award winners.

Michigan Week is being observed this year from Saturday, May 18 through Saturday, May 25.

Scope Mount

Marble Arms was started in 1893 in Gladstone. In 1965 both the founder and the corporation were named to the Sporting Goods Hall of Fame for "Outstanding contributions to the safety, welfare, and enjoyment of millions of sportsmen and outdoor enthusiasts."

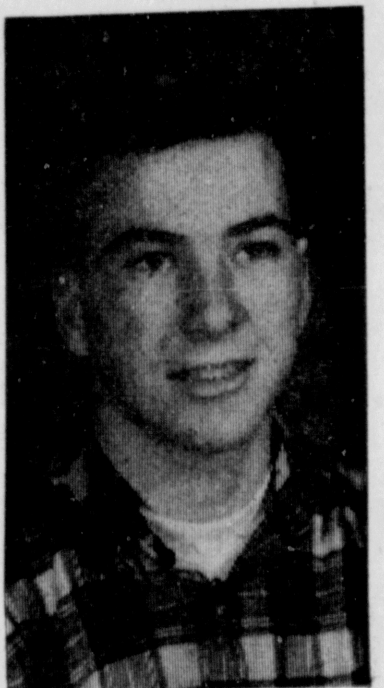

The company presently employs some 50 people in their new plant in the Gladstone Industrial Park. Their products include several different types of gun sights, gun cleaning equipment, hunting knives, survival knives for the armed forces, compasses and waterproof matchboxes.

Marble has been making its scope mount for several years and reports they're selling nationally "like hot cakes."

Sportsmen favor the mount because it permits a rifleman to use either the telescope sight

Baum Selected For Boys State

William L. Baum

An Escanaba Area High School junior today was named as a delegate to Wolverine Boys State at Michigan State University June 12-19.

William L. Baum, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Baum, 217 Ogden Ave., will be sponsored by Cloverland Post 82, American Legion.

Wolverine Boys State is sponsored by the American Legion and is designed as a practical experience in the problems of self government as operated in Michigan.

Baum, an honor student, is a member of the Escanaba Area High School Concert band, the Orange and Black society, the Future Teachers of America and of the Orange and Black Society. He also is active in athletics, playing on Escanaba's football and tennis teams.

Upper Peninsula students chosen for Boys State will leave Saturday, June 11, for East Lansing. Students from the northern and western parts of the U. P. will be guests of Cloverland Post 82 in Escanaba on the evening of June 10 before departure.

on the Marble mount, or to look beneath the scope and use the standard open sights of the rifle.

The mounts fit any standard scope for standard firearms.

Camper Maker
Melton Demerse was born, the son of a carpenter, Nov. 23, 1929, in Escanaba. He was educated in the elementary schools and Escanaba Senior High School, from which he graduated in 1948.

After working for his father building homes and cabinet making he built a camper to be mounted on the back of a pickup truck. One camper led to another until he received so many requests he had to go into camper production on a full time basis.

His business outgrew his garage, and he moved into his larger quarters at 1917 Ludington St. His insistence upon expert craftsmanship and quality materials became widely known throughout Michigan, Wisconsin and other areas of the Midwest and Canada.

He manufactured custom units designed for six and eight foot pick-up trucks and a special order camper designed for walk-in vans.

Handles Boats
Both the pickup mobile homes and walk-in motor homes are furnished for modern living with lights, cooking, sleeping, toilet facilities, refrigeration units and heating systems for

Public Lands Taxation Gets Review Friday

Local, state and national figures will speak on tax problems related to public land ownership at the annual meeting of Forum on Resources of Upper Michigan Friday at Marquette.

Among them will be Congressman Philip E. Ruppe (R-Houghton) and representatives of the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission, the U.S. Forest Service and the National Park Service.

Bruce G. Buell, Chassell, president of FORUM, will open the meeting at 9:30 a.m. in the University Center at Northern Michigan University.

(The meeting is open to the public, and attendance by school officials township supervisors and city and county officials is particularly invited.)

Federal State Speakers
Jean Worth, Escanaba, program chairman, will introduce the speakers.

In addition to Ruppe, who will speak on the need for land law reform and on reform proposals, speakers will include: Either Victor Roteris or Gilbert Hancock, special assistants to Thomas Francis, Washington D.C., federal co-chairman of the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission, on the commission's program.

Roger Thaanum, Milwaukee, chief of the Branch of Land Adjustments, U.S. Forest Service, on "Revenue Sharing."

Allen T. Edmunds, Lansing, associate regional director of the National Park Service, on "Benefits to the Taxpayer from the Establishment of National Parks."

Loss Of Taxes
Joseph D. Stephansky, Lansing, chief of the Lands Division, Michigan Department of Conservation, on the tax program on state lands and will represent the Public Land Law Review Commission in discussing policies on public lands.

year-round comfort while camping or vacationing.

He now supplies 23 dealers in Michigan and Wisconsin and is looking for new dealers.

With his business still growing Demerse purchased a larger building in 1966 at 2300 6th Ave. N. Now with four employees plus himself, he is manufacturing from 300 to 400 campers per year plus custom units.

For diversification purposes, Bel-Aire Campers is also the distributor in Michigan for the new fiberglass tri-hull boats for the sportsmen.

Demerse is negotiating for land in the industrial park of Escanaba and plans to erect a new building. His sales necessitate larger quarters and more employees.

man of the local committee of selection in the Michigan Week organization. Michigan Week will be observed this year from Saturday, May 18 through Saturday, May 25.

'Swinging Iggy' To Host Lions

Two of Northern Michigan's top tourist attractions will be featured on the entertainment program planned for the District 10 convention of Lions International in St. Ignace on Memorial Day weekend.

Scheduled are VIP tours of the Mackinac Bridge for Lions and their ladies, a boat trip to Mackinac Island, and the climax of the three-day convention, a moonlight cruise.

Lions and their ladies from District 10 are promised an eventful three days in "Swinging Iggy."

Opening day of the event will be on Friday, May 31, with registration taking place at the Legion Hut. During the afternoon, tours of the Mackinac Bridge will be conducted hourly, a breath-taking experience that Lions and their ladies will not want to miss. The evening hour will offer a mix and meet at the Legion Hut.

June 1 is the big day. While the Lions are at meetings, Lady Lions will be off to Mackinac Island and a luncheon at the Grand Hotel with entertainment and the carriage ride to the hotel in horse-drawn style. A moon light cruise is set for the evening on the 600-passenger excursion vessel Ottawa, which will cruise around Mackinac Island and through the Straits.

The weekend program will close Sunday after the International luncheon.

Paris Students Battle Police

PARIS (AP) — Paris police battled with tear gas and clubs today to block a student march on the Sorbonne after thousands of demonstrators paraded through the heart of the French capital for five hours.

The students fought back with paving stones and threw up a street barricade. Finally they went home a few hours before dawn, vowing to return to the streets.

It was the third day of clashes in Paris between police and students protesting overcrowding in France's universities and courses of study which they claim are out of date in the age of space and electronics.

The rioting began last Friday, after suburban Nanterre University and the Sorbonne—the University of Paris—were closed because of student demonstrations. On Monday, the battle between students and police in the Paris streets was the worst in recent memory. By comparison, the trouble Tuesday night was minor.

Tuesday's demonstration began with a huge parade, organized by the French National Students' Union, from the southern part of the city, across the Left Bank and the Seine, up the Champs Elysees and back to the Left Bank. Estimates of the marching throng ranged from 10,000 to 20,000.

Auto Insurance Probe Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House approved a two-year governmental study of the auto insurance industry.

The Department of Transportation will conduct the $2 million probe under a proposal by President Johnson. The Senate has approved legislation authorizing an 18-month study.

Prime subjects of the study will be the insurance companies' policies regarding rates and cancellation of policies.

Hospital

Mrs. Earl (Phyllis) Smith of Portage Point is a patient at the University Hospital, Ann Arbor where she underwent surgery on Friday. Her address is University Hospital Medical Center, Room S-10-453, Ann Arbor, Mich.

Terry Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Anderson of 521 N. 11th St., is a patient at St. Joseph's Hospital in Hancock. His room is 500. He is a student at Michigan Tech at Houghton.

Mrs. Lowell Thibault of Rapid River has been dismissed from St. Francis Hospital where she was a medical patient for 10 days and is recuperating at her home.

Cold Weather Slows Fishing

Trout fishing in Delta County has generally been slow due to cold weather, the Conservation Department reports. Best prospect is Camp Seven Lake. Some streams have produced a few trout, including the Escanaba River, Haymeadow and 18-Mile Creek.

Sucker runs continue on some streams in the east portion of the county but they are about over elsewhere. The coming week will probably see the end of this activity.

In the Marquette and Big Bay areas heaviest fishing is being done at Lake Superior out of Marquette at the mouth of the Dead and Carp rivers for rainbow and coho. Some activity also out of Big Bay for coho, coasters and lake trout. A few walleye are being taken from Lake Independence.

Brook trout fishing appears fair on the many streams in the area.

Lake trout in Lake Superior and walleye in Lake Independence should pick up in the coming week, as should coho fishing on Lake Superior.

In the Gwin area excellent fishing continues with the following recommendations:

Rainbow—Johnson Lake.

Brook trout—Escanaba River system and Moccasin Lake.

Perch and walleye — Big Shag Lake.

In the Trenary area best bet is brook trout fishing in east and west branches of the Whitefish, and on Dexter and Scott creeks. Fish are running 9 to 13 inches in size. Water is clear and at normal levels.

In the Chatham area coho success generally continues light and is not expected to improve greatly until mid-May.

The rainbow run has been slow to date probably due to cold weather with a few being taken from the Rock and Laughing Whitefish.

Akerman Lake is producing well on rainbows.

Brook trout fishing has been fair with Slapneck, Rock, Johnson and the Au Train most productive.

In the Munising area some coho and rainbow are being taken in Lake Superior at the mouth of the Anna River. Rainbow runs are not in full progress yet but should commence soon. A few are being taken in the Miner and Mosquito rivers.

Inland trout lake fishing has been somewhat better with Hemlock, Cherry and Mirror lakes best. A number of 1517 inchers are reported from the latter two lakes and a 21 inch brook from Hemlock.

New York Hikes Gas, Income And Cigarette Taxes

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The New York State Legislature decided early today to raise taxes on incomes, gasoline and cigarettes, thus giving Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller a substantial victory in his revenue demands.

The Republican governor, who is seeking the GOP presidential nomination, had requested more in taxes to balance his budget of more than $5 billion. Faced with a rebuff by the politically divided legislature in its election year, he threatened to veto other budget-balancing devices.

The compromise provides for increasing taxes on income of $17,000 or more, raising the cigarette tax by 2 cents, to 12 cents a package, and the gasoline tax by a penny, to 7 cents a gallon.

Rev. James Hill To Speak Here On Thursday

Rev. James Hill, on furlough from missionary service in Argentina, will be guest speaker at Calvary Baptist Church, 2000 N. 11th Ave. on Thursday, May 9, at 7:30 p.m.

Rev. and Mrs. Hill have completed their second five-year term as missionaries in Argentina, centering their work in Catamarca. Their main effort has been church planting which involves evangelism, pastoral care and a teaching ministry.

Some of the evangelistic endeavors have involved the organizing and directing of special campaigns, both indoor, and outdoor, in Catamarca as well as other places in the interior. A Bible Center has been maintained, providing direct contact with the people. Gospel literature and books are available at the center, and a systematic mailing of literature has been carried on by the missionaries.

The Hills have been responsible for the guidance of the church in Catamarca, which was organized in 1963. In September of 1964 the church rented a meeting place and has grown to be self-governing, self-propagating and self-supporting.

During their time on furlough the Hill family will be residing in California while Rev. Hill engages in a study program as well as deputation among the churches of the Baptist General Conference.

New Classroom Expected Soon

The temporary building to house the special education department is expected to arrive in June and will be placed south of the first grade wing of the James T. Jones School.

The Board of Education authorized Wallace Cameron, Supt. of schools to arrange builders contracts to provide electrical, water and sewer hook-ups for the addition at its regular meeting Monday evening.

The special education program will be established with the cooperation of the Delta-Schoolcraft Intermediate School Districts, which purchased the building from McFadden Corporation in Lansing. The building is expected to be ready when school opens in September.

The board authorized acceptance of its assessed share of the sewer extension on Dakota Avenue in front of the Athletic Field. Residents in the area had petitioned the city commission for the extension to serve the two new homes in the area.

Changes in library regulations were discussed since the library will now have to be open for 30 hours of public service weekly throughout the year. During summer months the library has been open for 14½ hours. Arrangements will be made to comply with the new regulations.

Robert Richards, who will be in charge of the new Community School program, appeared before the Board to explain the progress made on program to date. He is scheduled to begin his new assignment on July 1 and registrations for classes will be taken soon.

Cameron presented plans for equalizing classes in the grade school since the enrollment is expected to be larger this year.

Plans were made for the board to meet with the North Central Association visiting evaluators who are checking the system for accrediting.

GLADSTONE Safety First

HEADLIGHT ALIGNMENT is checked by a Michigan State Police officer on this automobile in a safety check lane Monday at the public fishing site at Kipling. A team of officers from Marquette, Gladstone, Stephenson and Manistique manned the check lane, which is set up periodically in the area. State Police said not all vehicles are required to stop. A "point man" at the highway flags cars into the safety check area as they can be processed. Requiring all vehicles to stop would cause undue delay to motorists, officers pointed out. Automobiles are checked to make sure lights, brakes, horn, wipers and windshield washers, stop lights, tail-lights, tires, steering and exhaust systems, etc., are functioning properly. Drivers are also checked for driver's license and proper registration and insurance. (Daily Press Photo)

Tampering Charges Echo In Racing World Today

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Charges of tampering reverberated in the turf world today over the disqualification of Dancer's Image from first place in America's most famous horse race, the Kentucky Derby.

Peter Fuller, owner of the 3-year-old colt, charged his horse had been tampered with.

"I'm going to get to the bottom of this and I'm going to offer a large financial reward to find the individual or individuals who tampered with my horse," the Boston sportsman said. "Anybody could have got to the horse before the race."

In what may become the most controversial incident in American thoroughbred history, Dancer's Image was disqualified and placed last by the Churchill Downs stewards Tuesday. This was three days after Dancer's Image, the 7-2 second choice, finished first in the Derby by 1½ lengths over the favored Forward Pass.

The stewards disqualified Dancer's Image because of the presence of a pain-killing drug.

They said in a statement: "The chemist for the Kentucky State Racing Commission has reported that the analysis of the urine sample ... contained phenylbutazone and/or a derivative thereof."

Trainer Lou Cavalaris said he was stunned by the announcement. "Nothing like this has ever happened to me." Later in an interview over radio station CFRB in Toronto, Cavalaris denied he or any member of his staff administered phenylbutazone after the prescribed 72-hour ban before the Derby.

He said Dancer's Image was given the drug on Sunday, five days before the Derby, but not thereafter. He said he and any of his crew would take lie-detector tests "anywhere and anytime the Kentucky racing officials want us." He said it was possible someone might have slipped into the horse's stall and administered the drug.

Forward Pass, from the Calumet Farm, was declared the official winner and awarded first money of $122,600.

The drug, often called butazolidin, is used for the suppression of pain, but has been barred at Kentucky and others tracks since 1962.

Who administered the drug? When was it given? Why? Churchill Downs, which announced the disqualification, declined to go beyond its statement.

"I have no idea who the guilty party is," said Wathen Knebelkamp, president of the Downs.

"We consider this a tragic misfortune."

It was the 94th running of the famed Triple Crown classic and its first disqualification.

"The track is continuing its investigation," Knebelkamp continued. "The facts should come out at a hearing before the commissioners." The hearing is scheduled for Monday.

Regardless of the outcome, there will be no change for the bettors. Under the rules of racing the wagering on the race is not affected.

Canadiens Lead St. Louis, 2-0

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Coach Scotty Bowman could be proud of the hockey player he helped develop, if that player hadn't helped beat Bowman's St. Louis Blues.

The player is Montreal's rookie defenseman, Serge Savard. He scored the only goal of the National Hockey League Stanley Cup game and gave the Montreal Canadiens a 1-0 victory over the Blues Tuesday night.

That leaves the best-of-7 series 2-0 in Montreal's favor. The next two games will be played Thursday and Saturday in Montreal.

"I played two years as a junior for Scotty," Savard grinned, "when he was a coach in the Montreal organization."

"I fell on the puck as soon as it went in," the 22-year-old defenseman added. "Actually, I fell on the ice because I was trying to push it in, but I wanted that puck anyway."

That's understandable. It was his first goal in Stanley Cup competition.

"(Claude) Provost sent the puck in to me from the corner,"

Savard recalled. "It was a perfect pass."

It appeared St. Louis goalie Glenn Hall tried to make a stab at the puck and let it get away to Savard, who had to fight off St. Louis' Jim Roberts to push the puck in.

"Roberts might have been too close to Hall. He (Roberts) was trying to get hold of the puck and it was between his legs and I don't think Hall could see it."

The goal had come with Montreal short-handed. Canadiens' Coach Toe Blake pointed out that the short-handed goal isn't too rare.

"I'll tell you what—I hear the Blues have scored some goals short-handed, and we've scored our share," Blake observed. "We got the break, that's the only way to put it, because the Blues played a heckuva game."

"So far this has been two of the toughest games we've had," Blake added. "There's no way it could have been tougher unless we had gone into another overtime. You can't get a tougher game than this and win."

"Worsley (Montreal goalie Gump Worsley) played a perfect game and so did Hall," praised Blake. "I think the goalies made the game."

Bowman smiled at the fact his past, namely Savard, had come back to haunt him. His team had lost, but he had enough to smile about.

"I don't think we could ask for too much more," Bowman conceded, "except maybe a little luck. There were two strong goalies and the defense on both teams was too strong for the forwards."

Cougars Defeat Washington 2-1

DETROIT (AP)—Roy Cheetham scored with one minute left in the first half to give the Detroit Cougars a 2-1 victory over the Washington Whips in a North American Soccer League game Tuesday.

Detroit took the lead in the game after less than five minutes of play on a shot by Andy Buren. The Whips tied it up with 2:30 remaining in the half when Roberto Mauro scored.

Detroit Player-Coach Len Julian, playing his first game for the Cougars, suffered a broken arm in the match.

George "Doc" Lentz is in his 22nd season as team trainer of the Minnesota Twins organization.

Pro Football Gambling Investigation Opened

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal grand jury has opened a gambling investigation that has touched the edges of pro football.

A convicted embezzler and two young women in miniskirts were among the seven opening witnesses in U.S. District Court in suburban Alexandria, Va.

Among the total of 53 persons under subpoena to testify are Fran O'Brien, a veteran tackle for the Pittsburgh Steelers, and Ralph Guglielmi, former quarterback for the Washington Redskins.

Neither was called in the opening session of the investigation, expected to continue at least three days.

Court sources have indicated the witnesses have been called merely to give information, and there is no hint of any involvement with National Football League play. The probe grew out of two New Year's Day raids on alleged football pools involving college bowl games.

The grand jury was formally empaneled Tuesday to investigate the "alleged use of interstate facilities to promote, carry on and conduct alleged illegal gambling activities ... between Virginia and the District of Columbia."

John R. Sellers, convicted in 1958 of embezzling $44,000 from the Washington bank where he was head teller, was among the opening witnesses.

The grand jury investigation is being conducted behind closed doors, with none of the testimony made public.

An Internal Revenue Service agent was the leadoff witness, followed by a mystery woman in a polka-dot miniskirt and large round sunglasses.

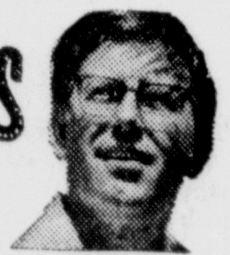

She was escorted by four special agents of the Treasury Department who refused to allow anyone to talk to her. Government prosecutors declined to identify her.

Other witnesses included an employee of a Washington luxury hotel, a man from Virginia Beach, Va., and a young brunette, also clad in a miniskirt.

O'Brien is a nine-year veteran of the NFL who played with Washington until traded to Pittsburgh in 1966. He, like several other prospective witnesses, is a Washington restaurant owner. Guglielmi is in the insurance business in Washington.

The golf you see at the beginning of the season is not as good as the brand played later on, at any competitive level. And that includes the pro tour.

Maybe some of the California pros will start right at the top of their games. I'm not trying to be snide when I point that out. They're lucky they live in the west. That's where they chose their homes. I could live there if I liked. They can play golf over there all year round. Al Geiberger and George Archer have had good success during the winter run of tournaments. They're Californians. Of course, that doesn't explain Dave Marr getting off to such a good jump on the current tour, since he's from New York.

But the top 25 to 50 pros will be basically the California and Florida products, maybe some from Texas, where it's also mild. But I don't feel like I should play well when I start out in California, and I don't. In fact, I'm seriously thinking of skipping the California part of the tour next year.

I'm not unique. Arnold Palmer has been quoted in the same vein. I haven't made $10,000 out there in six years. I've almost gotten to expect it, and this works a reverse psychology on me. It's almost like having a pen pal, the way I play in California. I go out there knowing I haven't played well the last five or six years and probably won't again.

I used to get discouraged, but now I've taken it to be a part of my golf life. And that's why I say, don't expect any great scoring at the start.

Mets Tumble Cardinals; Ryan Likened To Koufax

By The Associated Press

Nolan Ryan might soak his pitching hand in pickle juice, but after several whiffs, the St. Louis Cardinals were comparing him to Sandy Koufax and his odorless ice water.

The 21-year-old hurler zipped his fast ball by the National League leading Cardinals for eight strikeouts and a three-hit Tuesday night and the New York Mets had themselves a 4-1 victory.

Santiago Extends Mark; Horlen Captures First

By The Associated Press

Jose Santiago's luck is holding up. Joe Horlen's fortunes finally have taken a turn for the better and the Sox are on the run again.

Santiago hurled the Boston Red Sox to a 3-2 victory over Washington Tuesday night, extending his regular season winning streak — begun last year — to 12 games.

Horlen, meanwhile, earned his first triumph of the season after a run of five setbacks as the Chicago White Sox trimmed California 6-4 with the help of a grand slam homer by Tom McCraw.

Their respective victories ended a three-game tailspin for Boston and moved last place Chicago within one game of the struggling New York Yankees.

Cleveland's streaking Indians buried the Yankees 8-0, Detroit edged Baltimore 2-1 and Minnesota shaded Oakland 2-1 in other games.

Santiago, who had strung together eight straight 1967 victories beginning last July, got help from his mound opponent, Joe Coleman, and Red Sox reliever Lee Stange in posting victory No. 4 this spring.

A balk by Coleman in the third inning sent home Boston's third run and Stange came out of the bullpen to get the last four outs after the Senators closed the gap with a run in the seventh and another in the eighth.

Joe Foy's first inning double and Carl Yastrzemski's third inning single drove in the Red Sox' first two runs, starting Washington on the way to its fifth loss in a row.

"I'm just lucky," said Santiago. "But I'll take them all. I'll take 50 more."

Horlen, whose early troubles paralleled the White Sox' sorry send off this year, blanked the slumping Angels until the seventh inning, when he needed relief help to nail his first victory.

The slender right-hander, who won his first eight decisions a year ago, has fallen victim to erratic control and spotty fielding support.

McCraw helped put Horlen over the top with his grand slam off loser Sammy Ellis in the White Sox' five-run third, then hastened the pitcher's seventh-inning exit with an error.

The Chicago first baseman said he's developed a "thing" about making bad fielding plays when Horlen is pitching. "I've been doing it for over a year now and I think now that I tighten up and try too hard when Horlen is on the mound," McCraw said.

The Sox led 6-0 when McCraw's boot and singles by Tom Satranio and Jimmie Hall filled the bases for Jim Fregosi, who stroked a two-run single that knocked out Horlen.

Luis Tiant scattered five hits and struck out 10 on the way to his third consecutive shutout as the Indians rolled past New York for their sixth straight victory.

Tiant contributed a two-run single, Tony Horton a two-run double and Jose Cardenal a two-run inside-the-park homer to the Indians' attack on loser Jim Bouton and two successors.

Cleveland pitchers have allowed just four runs during the winning streak.

Mike Ryan, who hasn't hit better than .214 in 2½ seasons in the majors, lined a tie-breaking two-run triple out of the reach of diving outfielder Pete Rose in the seventh inning in Philadelphia's triumph.

Felix Milan singled home the winning run in the ninth inning for Atlanta, beating the Pirates' Al McBean, who had a no-hitter for 6 2-3 innings and only wound up with his second loss against four victories.

Don Wilson scattered seven hits and stroked a two-run single to cap a four-run seventh inning that knocked out Juan Marichal in Houston's victory. Wilson evened his record at 2-2, although Mike Cuellar had to get the last two outs.

Claude Osteen of Los Angeles, with relief help from John Billingham, outdueled Richie Nye of the Cubs as Ron Fairly drove in one run with a sacrifice fly and Rocky Colavito singled in the winner in the fifth.

Matchick's Double Ends Oriole Streak

BALTIMORE (AP) — Tom Matchick, who almost ended his own baseball career last season during a batting slump, has ended the eight-game winning streak of the league-leading Baltimore Orioles.

A two-run pinch double by the Detroit rookie, with two out in the ninth inning Tuesday night, gave the Tigers a 2-1 victory and pulled them to within 1½ games of the top. A loss would have left the Tigers 3½ games out.

The hit fell at the base of the outfield fence, after right fielder Curt Blefary had some difficulty retreating from his somewhat shallow position. The length of the drive resulted in some good-natured criticism for Matchick from Detroit batting Coach Wally Moses.

"He told me I was swinging too hard if I hit the ball to the fence," Matchick said. "Wally likes me to hit line drives."

The 24-year-old Matchick has a lot of respect for Moses, who led him out of the baseball wilderness last year.

"I went about 14-for-104 with Toledo at the start of last season," Matchick said. "And I was about to quit the game. Then the Tigers sent Moses down to work with me, and I credit him for straightening me out."

Matchick wound up 1967 with a .289 batting average, was named the All-Star shortstop in the International League, and decided to make baseball his career.

The winning hit broke up a scoreless pitching duel between Mickey Lolich and Tom Phoebus, giving Lolich his ninth consecutive victory over Baltimore. The left-hander hasn't lost to the Orioles since May 26, 1964.

Lolich pitched hitless ball until Blefary singled with two out in the sixth. In the seventh, following an infield single, a sacrifice and an intentional walk, Lolich knocked down Andy Etchebarren's vicious two-out liner and threw him out.

The intentional walk backfired in the ninth for Baltimore, resulting in Detroit's second run of the inning. Don Wert was passed after Willie Horton walked and moved into scoring position on a sacrifice. Both runners advanced as pinch hitter Gates Brown grounded out, and then Matchick delivered while batting for Lolich.

"I was cheating a little bit," said right fielder Blefary. "In case of a short hit, I wanted to prevent the second run from scoring. The ball sort of drifted on me, and I couldn't reach it. I would have had a chance if I had been playing in the normal spot."

Boog Powell hit a two-out homer off Fred Lasher in the ninth, and after Dave Johnson singled, Jon Warden came in to retire pinch hitter Don Buford.

Warden, a rookie, who has pitched seven innings in six appearances, recorded his first save to go with a 3-0 record.

The Tigers wind up a three-game series against the Orioles tonight. Earl Wilson will pitch for Detroit.

The Tigers, who have had trouble scoring lately while posting 6-8 record, had "tomorrow's line-up" on blackboard, listing substitutes with Wilson batting in fourth spot.

Wilson, batting .375, said, "That's almost as much as my earned run average (4.17). Next to the mock line-up someone had written, 'get some hits.' Bill Freehan crossed out 'hits' and substituted 'runs.'"

City Praised For Recognition Given Needs Of Elderly

Charles Chaskins, executive director of the Commission on Aging, was in Manistique Friday night to speak at the Senior Citizens Drop-In Center.

Chaskins detailed the work of his Commission and discussed the many ways the Commission is attempting to help the elderly.

"We recognize that there are three very pressing needs of the senior citizens: Adequate income; adequate housing; and perhaps the most important of all, the need to combat loneliness."

"Loneliness is their biggest fear and with loneliness most older people begin to go downhill; we must try to give these people something, so that they will not fear getting out of bed in the morning," Chaskins said.

Chaskins praised the city of Manistique for recognizing the needs of the elderly. He particularly referred to the void that the Senior Citizens Drop-In Center was fulfilling and mentioned the proposed senior citizens housing program undertaken by the Planning Committee of the City.

Library Is Given McGregor Grant

The Manistique School and Public Library is one of the small public libraries benefiting from a three-year program to improve reference collections. The program, administered by the Michigan State Library and financed by a grant from the McGregor Fund of Detroit, allows a total of $650 a year, for three years to purchase reference books from a selected list.

The McGregor fund was established in 1925 by Tracy W. McGregor and his wife, the former Katherine Whitney, "to relieve the misfortunes and promote the well-being of mankind." Tracy McGregor died in 1936, but the foundation continues to carry on the work to which he devoted his life.

Tracy McGregor's father, Thomas, established missions for destitute men in Toledo, and Detroit. The son, Tracy, took over the administration of the mission on the death of his father and later married Katherine Whitney, the heiress of lumberman David Whitney, ney.

This marriage enabled him to make philanthropy his lifetime work. He was active in organizing social reforms in Detroit; was a force in the creation of the present single municipal court system; and was the organizer of community leaders into the "Thursday Group" in Detroit.

In his later years, McGregor and his wife lived in Washington, D.C. Here he continued to take an active interest in community affairs until his death.

Under the grant, the Manistique Library has purchased such reference works as: Books In Print, Childrens Catalog, Historical Fiction, Index Plays, Short Story Index, Balcks Law Dictionary, Michigan State Abstract, U.S. Govt. Organization Manual, Abbreviations Dictionary, Dict. Of Contemporary American Usage, Encyclopedia Of Science And Technology, Motors Auto Repair Manual, Encyclopedia Of Furniture, Illustrated Medical Dictionary, Historical Atlas and Books In Print.

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP) —Former Michigan Gov. Wilbur M. Brucker, a secretary of the Army for five years in the Eisenhower Administration, has been elected a trustee of the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge. MANISTIQUE Robert Jack Is Elected Health Board Chairman

Robert Jack of Germfask was elected chairman of the Alger-Schoolcraft Board of Health at a recent meeting in the new Medical Care Facility. Jack succeeds Frank Bartol of Munising who served as chairman last year.

Dr. Gordon Eadie, director of Alger-Schoolcraft Health Dept., reported on the successful adult health testing program recently held in Manistique. 800 people were accepted for screening and, in view of the great demand, Dr. Eadie said that it is hoped the Michigan Dept. of Health will send another unit to Manistique this summer for a second program.

The director also commended Boyd Briggs, chief sanitarian of the Dept., for planning, organizing, and conducting the annual U.P. Sanitarians Conference in Manistique.

A Glaucoma Screening Program to be conducted on May 22 in the St. Francis gym was discussed.

In addition to Dr. Eadie, Frank Bartol, Peter Arsenault, and George Chudacoff of Alger County are Board members with Robert Jack, Agner Delin and Clayton St. Martin representing Schoolcraft County.

Howard Schwartz Wins Scholarship To Institute

Howard Schwartz, junior high science teacher in the Manistique Area Schools, has been awarded a scholarship to participate in a physical science and mathematics institute at Western Michigan University this summer.

The scholarship is sponsored by the School of Graduate Studies of Western Michigan and supported by the National Science Foundation. Schwartz is one of 40 being awarded the scholarship.

PERSONALS

Dr. E. D. Branyan, 127 Arbutus Ave., returned from Milwaukee where he attended a symposium sponsored by the Society of Wisconsin Chiropractic Association. Purpose of the meeting was to upgrade chiropractic doctors in the latest research technique.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Cousineau of Cooks have purchased Lot No. 1 from Marty and Isabelle Tholeu, Garden Corners. A new home is now under construction.

Dump Violation Warning Issued

The Alger-Schoolcraft Dept. of Health is issuing a warning to users of the various townships dumps that it is a direct violation of state statutes to deposit dead animal carcasses in the township dumps.

Carcasses of dogs, horses, and cows have been found in the township dumps and this has created an unhealthy situation. State law requires that dead animals be buried, either on the owner's property or on other property with special permission.

Township dumps are not able to accommodate large objects such as stoves, refrigerators, old furniture, tree limbs, and stumps, and car bodies. By dumping these large inert objects, the facilities of township dumps are limited and causes an undue financial burden on the local townships who maintain the dumps, the Health Dept. said.

Howard Schwartz Wins Scholarship To Institute

Howard Schwartz, junior high science teacher in the Manistique Area Schools, has been awarded a scholarship to participate in a physical science and mathematics institute at Western Michigan University this summer.

The scholarship is sponsored by the School of Graduate Studies of Western Michigan and supported by the National Science Foundation. Schwartz is one of 40 being awarded the scholarship.

Classes will begin June 10 and continue until August 2. Purpose of the Institute is to give teachers of junior high training in the physical sciences and related mathematics.

Illinois Child's Balloon Found On Beach Here

A helium balloon released 27 miles south of Chicago's Loop on April 20 was found on the beach between Thompson and Manistique on April 21.

Howard Holland of the State Saving Bldg. Apartments was walking along the beach when he noticed a red, tattered balloon hanging from a tree. Attached to the balloon was part of a string and a note with a girl's name and address.

The note said: "Hi, my name is Jeanie. Please drop me a line." An address in Thornton, Ill. followed.

Holland wrote to the girl and she replied that she had purchased the helium balloon at a Cub Scout's Fun Fair in Thornton on April 19. She released it from her backyard the following day at 11 o'clock in the morning.

The girl, Jeanie Carruthers is 12 years old and in the sixth grade. Her family consists of her parents and a 17-year-old brother. Another member of the household is her dog KoKo.

Evidently Jeanie is a celebrity in her neighborhood and at school as a result of her well-traveled balloon. In her letter she says that she has already told the whole neighborhood about this oddity and will tell her classmates in school.

Holland, twice a widower, retired in October of 1958 after 54 years in the automobile business. He and the late Ira Cramford were partners in the Crawford-Holland Agency for 22 years. He began selling Pontiac cars in Manistique in 1928 and took on the Buick line in 1930.

He perhaps holds the record for leaving Manistique the most times during any one year. Last year he left 46 times on the Greyhound bus to pick up automobiles and drive them back to Manistique for various car agencies. His one-day trips take him to lower Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, Illinois and Wisconsin.

Holland, a spy and young-looking 73, said he loves to walk along the beach and tramp the many woodland trails in this area.
